

ChefSink

Makers of NuCrete™
The World's Only Stainless Concrete

This ChefSink is something that you will use everyday. It costs 20% of your Volvo. It wouldn't get dinged in the parking lot and you'll be using it, and loving it long after you have forgotten that old car.

First introduced at the San Francisco Decorators' Showcase, the ChefSink became so instantly popular that we have added it to our kitchen line.

Our unique perforated stainless steel bottom protects the sink from years of pot and pan abrasion, yet unlike a typical stainless sink, it will not scratch or dent. The stainless rinse board slides across the sink to act as a large strainer. It is everything that you could want. We have turned the kitchen sink into a fine piece of art...very functional art. The ChefSink is also made as a large single bowl with many options.

Want the ChefSink as a one compartment basin, with the drain on the other side, with more plumbing holes and with countertops to match? Call us for pricing.

ChefSink Island

The FarmSink

Big, Gutsy FarmSinks have Become the Rage.

Makers of NuCrete™
The World's Only Stainless Concrete

With good reason, because these large, deep sinks can hold several pots and pans and still have room for a party full of dishes. Our FarmSinks are made in the traditional design with full aprons that usually stand "proud" of the counter and cabinets.

Unique to our FarmSinks is our ability to cast custom countertops for the entire kitchen to work in harmony with these popular sinks.

Deluxe models have an inlaid stainless steel bottom and are advised for kitchens that receive daily use.
